THE STORY OF A TRAIN CRASH

What happened in Bahanaga Bazar railway station at 6:55 pm on June 2 that switched the Coromandel Express to a loop line where an ore-laden goods train was already standing?

COVER STORY

Fast track to disaster

16/ The gruesome tragedy that befell the Coromandel Express in Odisha on June 2 prima facie points to a system that is accustomed to taking shortcuts in maintenance works and signalling processes, compromising on safety to ensure that trains run on time.

SANJAY AHLAWAT

FUTURE-PROOF

The demand for STEM courses is increasing thanks to good job prospects. Premier institutes in India are launching many new courses in this segment, as a majority of the fastest growing roles are technology-related jobs like AI and machine learning specialists. THE WEEK takes a look at the revival of STEM.

For students to be successful, there should be interaction between science and humanities, says Prof John Varghese, principal, St. Stephen's College, Delhi.
