CRISIS or DIVIDEND?

India is in that sweet spot when its youth should be driving growth, but it might have already blunted this demographic edge

COVER STORY

More than just 'demographic dividend'

12/ India's youth, numbering a staggering 345 million, are keenly anticipated to be the key drivers of development, but the gains so far seem elusive. An interesting topography of this population is presented here, as we try to locate and analyse this cohort in the disruptive digital era.
